In Loving Memory of

Family Photos

by: Marilyn Lott

I love my family photos, Such a simple treasure to me.
So many wonderful people, That are part of my history.

I look upon their faces, My uncles, cousins and aunts.
I see myself in some of them, The eyes... the smile... the stance.

Decked out in Sunday fashion, They gathered for a quick snapshot.
Some clothes were made at home, And some of them they bought.

And look at how far back they go, To the horse and buggy days.
Perhaps we were not born yet, Or were small with the past a haze.

Oh, look at Grandpa's trophies, He looks so very proud.
He knew he was quite a hunter, Though he wouldn't say out loud.

Let's not forget the animals. That helped to work the farm.
They too were part of our family, And had their special charm.

Just look at the family autos, They had such class and style.
Yes, I love my family photos, Come and look at them awhile!
